

GET RICH!

That is a piece of advice very much like the doctor's when he advises the poor man to take an ocean voyage, or the poor woman to take good nourishing food and a glass of old port wine. We don't need to be told to get rich but we do need to be told how.

HOW? There are many ways to get money. Speculation is one way. You can buy stocks, bonds, shares, etc., etc. But all this requires capital to start with, and you have no such start, we will suppose. Then you must begin

BY SAVING MONEY

But this only shifts the shoe that pinches to the other foot. How to save is almost as great a problem as how to make or how to earn money. It is all very well to say "save money," but echo answers "how is money to be saved?" That is what we started out to tell you.

HOW? Money saved on your necessary expenses may lay the foundation of fortune for you and you can save money everytime you trade

BY BUYING CHEAP

That's no news you will probably say. Of course you can save by buying cheap. You could also fly if you had wings. You can do anything if you know how. You are quite willing to save on your buying if you know where to go. That's what we are getting at. WHERE? We would not waste your time by offering all this advice without having a practical end in view. If you want to buy cheap and save money go to

J. E. FOGLE & CO.

The place where you will find the best and largest stock, the most accommodating treatment and the very lowest prices ever made.

Little Annie, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Thomas, died Sunday night, of pneumonia. The little child was sick several days. The remains were buried in the Thomas lot in the cemetery Monday afternoon at four o'clock.

Rev. J. B. McDonald conducted General Exercises at the College yesterday morning. His lecture was full of sound, practical suggestions and interspersed with striking illustrations, and was really enjoyed by all present.

Dr. J. B. Moody, of Louisville, filled Dr. Coleman's pulpit Sunday and Sunday night. He was favored with large audiences and preached in his usual terse, plain and truthful way. He impressed his hearers with the fact that his utterances were from strong moral conviction.

Mr. Wm. Foreman has severed his connection with Mr. P. Ross' meat shop. His beaming, smiling face is no longer seen behind the huge meat bench. The early riser will miss his morning jokes. He goes to the peaceful pursuits of farm life and the pleasures of raising early vegetables. Mr. Bruno Fry has taken the position made vacant by Foreman's resignation.

A splendid chance for one or two young men to make money. We have a good business well established, paying $1,800 to $2,000 a year that we want to sell. A fine opportunity for any person that wants to go in business. Terms easy—capital required, $1,000 to $1,500. For particulars, inquire of A. B. Carr of HERRICK.

The Cumberland Presbyterian Church in the course of erection at this place, is now nearing completion, and it is thought that it will be completed within the next few weeks. The committee in charge succeeded yesterday in raising more than half of the amount required to complete the church. Let the good work go on until ample means are secured to complete the church.

Rev. G. B. McDonald, of Bowling Green, was in Hartford this week in the interest of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church of this place. He preached to a large and attentive audience at the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He also preached Monday night and last night. His sermons were scholarly, logical and convincing.

When you come to town don't forget that Yeiser & Miller can be found at their new stand on corner of Union and Market Streets, opposite the Hartford House. They are willing and ready to give your horse a good round feed as cheap as the cheapest. They also keep a complete line of first-class livery at most reasonable rates. Special attention given to orders placed by traveling salesmen. Good teams and safe drivers furnished at all hours, day or night.

Last Wednesday morning when Master Walter Martin arose he complained of having a severe cold, and as was his custom, Mrs. C. B. Martin, his mother, went to the mantle-piece and took down a bottle, supposed to contain tincture of cinchona and poured out a teaspoonful and gave to him. The first dose was given at 4, the second at 7, and the third at 10 o'clock. Each time when the medicine was swallowed by the little fellow he crumpled off in burning pain. But Mrs. Martin took no notice of it until the third dose had been administered, when she discovered that the spoon out of which the medicine had been taken was colored. And she dropped some of the medicine on the carpet and saw that it discolored that, and upon examination of the label on the bottle she found that she had given her son three teaspoonful of iodine. This so frightened her she sent at once for Dr. Baird in post-haste, who by the immediate use of narcotics saved the life of Walter. Some one had displaced the bottle containing cinchona with the bottle containing iodine through mistake.

An Accidental Shot.
HERRICKSVILLE, Ky., March 9. William Collins of this place was fatally shot yesterday morning while out hunting. He was attempting to climb a fence when he accidentally let his gun fall. The hammer of the gun struck a nail and he received the contents of both barrels under his arm. The shot ranged upward inflicting a horrible wound, from which he can never recover.

Cleaned out the Court.
GAINESVILLE, Tex., March 8.—Margaret Lane, thirty years old, weighing 175 pounds, and a giantess in strength, yesterday cleaned out the Mayor's office in true John L. Sullivan style.

Several days ago Mrs. Lane's husband was fined by the Mayor's Court. At 11 o'clock yesterday she called at that official's office and gave him a terrible tongue lashing. He ordered Policeman Roberts to arrest her, and she knocked the policeman flat with a square shoulder-blow on the nose. At this juncture City Attorney Hall entered and attempted to restrain the virago, and she floored him. The Mayor then took a hand in the game, and she likewise knocked him down. Then she wheeled in and actually thrashed all three of them and drove them from the court-room. In her rage she nearly stripped herself of clothing. The men are badly disgraced about the face.

Struck by Lightning.
A heavy rain fell at Lufkin, Tex., on the 27th of last month, and lightning struck the school building at that place, and running down a stove-pipe, it flashed over the room in every direction, shocking about one dozen students, one falling lifeless for a while; three young ladies being badly burned, and two young men seriously injured. The principal of the school, Prof. Alex. C. Foster, was in another room at the moment the accident occurred, and, rushing immediately to the scene, he found a number lying on the floor with their clothing on fire, others screaming and running to and fro to put out the fire.

The three young ladies that were burned so severely, are in a bad condition and their recovery is doubtful, and the young men will get over the accident if nothing more happens.

CROPPER, SHELBY CO. KY.
Cropper is a small village situated in the northern part of Shelby county, surrounded by land of great fertility, stretching away in rolling plain as far as the eye can reach. This part of the county is densely populated, and also very level, but in many respects does not differ much from other counties in the State. After being here for some time, enjoying the hospitality of the good people, I can echo back the saying that this is "God's country."

In many parts of this county can be found Indian relics of every description. The largest of these which I have been permitted to visit is an Indian mound on the farm belonging to the Washburn brothers. It is thirteen yards in diameter and about two feet high, and is supposed to have been the burial place of the Indians. It is very peculiarly situated, being bound on three sides by three very large brooks, and about equal distance from each. These brooks, no doubt, bore names which were familiar to the Indians, and the mound was easily discovered on account of its location by any of the tribe who wished to bury their dead.

The Wheeler have not yet visited this part of the country and the gripe has gone, so the farmers seem very lonesome, with nothing to agitate their minds.

The Weston combination arrived in town Thursday and played Friday and Saturday nights. Those who attended say they received value for money expended.

A house belonging to T. W. Smith of this place was burned to the ground one night last week. No one was occupying the house at the time, and it is supposed it was struck by lightning.

The water has been so high in the Kentucky river for the past few days that fears were entertained for the safety of the bridge at Frankfort. One of the trains on that road ran into the back water last Saturday. The water put the fire out and the train was delayed several hours.

BEDA, KY.
March 10, 1890.—Herbert Newton has lung trouble.

The recent cold weather has greatly injured the wheat crop in this neighborhood. Some of the wheat fields look like they were set on fire, they would burn like broom-sedge.

Early last Friday morning, Mr. Steve Rowan, Rowantown, discovered a wild turkey near his home, and fearing he would lose sight of it, he did not take time to get his hat, but immediately started in pursuit. He pursued the turkey to our town when it turned and went down the road to Mr. Jake Shaver. Steve still in pursuit bareheaded. There he lost sight, and failed to get his game after chasing it about seven miles.

Mrs. Reason Chapman was compelled to move her plunder up stairs and leave home on account of back water.

Mr. Thomas Green was carelessly handling a gun one day last week, when it was discharged, but with no serious result—only a powder-burnt hand.

Mr. Clint Chapman, while cutting some timber last week, happened to strike a tinab broke off and flew back, striking him in the forehead. He was unconscious for a short time.

Miss Carrie Her has returned from a two week's visit to friends on No creek. Miss Mollie Her, near Rosine, is visiting her uncle, James Her, near here. Sherman Stevens, Whitesville, is visiting his parents. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Foster visited Mrs. Foster's parents Sunday. Amos Hicks and family moved to Philpot station last Saturday.

The school at this place will begin next Monday, March 17th, conducted by Miss Lillian Bennett.

Rev. W. E. Cook is at home on a visit. He preached for the people at Shiloh Chapel Sunday and at this place Sunday night.

MARCH 10, 1890.—The water is falling slowly at this place.

Mrs. T. M. Ross, of Sualhouse is very low. But very little hope of her recovery.

The gripe has about subsided at this place.
A Wheeler Lodge was organized at West Point school house last week. Let the good work go on. The farmers must look after their own interest—every other class are doing it. If they do not nobody else will. But some say what benefit will the Wheel be to the farmers? The Grange was a failure and what can they do more than the Grange did. But the necessity for unity among farmers was not so great then as it is now. People hardly knew then what a trust, a combine or a corner meant. The monopolies were not grinding the life out of the farmers. If the farmers do not protect themselves nobody else will, but they will be robbed by everybody else. I close by wishing the HERALD and the Farmer's Union success. T.

Another Little Girl.
POINT PLEASANT, KY., March 7, '90. DEAR MESSRS. EDITORS:—I saw two or three letters in your paper written by a little girl. She said she would be glad if some more of the little folks would write—she loved to read their letters. Seeing her letter and the ground being covered with snow, I could not play with my little sister in our play-house in the orchard where the peach and plum trees have been as sweet as spring, but now are all frozen and dead, I thought I would write a few words, thinking you would publish the letter of another little girl. I hope that little girl will write again.
